Jobs, Justice, Climate Alternatives to the G20

Book NOW!

G20 Counter Conference – Nov 7 – Westminster Central Hall, London.

In March, we marched in our tens of thousands to demand the G20 Put People First. Far from putting people first we've seen nothing but a tinkering around the margins followed by the return to business as usual.

On Nov 7, as the G20 returns to the UK, the agenda on the table nurses an already failed economic model back to life, whilst looking to sew up an unjust international climate deal outside the UN process.

- In the run up to Copenhagen, how do we get a global agreement on climate that truly puts climate justice at its heart?
- How do we respond to the jobs crisis and growing poverty around the world?
- How do we ensure the global Green New Deal the world needs?
- How do we show that cuts are not the only option, and demonstrate what Putting People First really looks like?

This counter-conference will bring together academics, activists, campaigners, unions, policy makers and YOU to share ideas on what the alternatives are and how we must organise across our issues, of jobs, justice and climate, to make the alternative the reality.
